

NCWQG March 2022 Tidbits

- Meetings: Masking mandates have been relaxed. That does not mean the virus is gone. Please mask to your own comfort level.
March meeting March 30
April meeting April 20 {early due to scheduling.}
- Business: The Board voted in favor of starting some fund raising. That will require some new or renewed committee activity:
Raffle quilt sales
Artisan Market {probably as a program at a meeting in October}
Scholarship quilt raffle
- Treasurer: Look in the newsletter for Becky McFann's synopsis of the finances from 2018-2021 to ease your mind if you are prone to worry financially. We had a wise treasurer about a decade ago that made sure we had some "Contingency {pandemic??} funds" built up as cushion. Thank you, Lenora.
- Forward Motion: Apple Blossom activity. We are seeing if we can have a spot in the parade to represent NCW Quilt Guild. All willing to walk all or part of the route with banners and /or signs - there will be a signup sheet.
Volunteer hours may to be documented at sign in at the meetings. This includes round robin attendance, independent work on quilts, committee activity, officer activity or anything related to the quilt guild. It is part of records needed to confirm we are a non-profit organization. Estimation is OK.
- Programs: March ~ Caryl Bryer Fallert-Gentry, DVD viewing history including her design process. Samples will be shown.
April ~ Is looking for your quilts that taught you a lesson either planned or by trial and error. Cassie will tell us more at the meeting. Look through your stash of tops to see what you have to share and let her know. Did you have one that made you say, "Ah ha!" or "wow" or "really!!!"? That's the ones she wants to include.
- Other: If you see someone that is not coming to meetings that you could offer to give a ride, please reach out. We probably have members that are not comfortable driving at night.

FYI there will be a circus at Town Toyota March 31st at 7 pm or April 1 either 4:30 or 7 pm. They sent us a notice and the meeting will be a little late to get it on your calendar.
